PERSONAL STATEMENT

Rushil lives in Ashburn, VA, and over the years has worked hard to get to where he is today. He began by taking web development courses, then other OOP languages like Python, and then more fundamental languages like Java and C++. To date he knows 13 different languages, and is still learning more, like Kotlin and Arduino. He has also worked in the hospitality industry since he was ten through the family business, and knows all of the ins and outs of customer service.

Along with his own skills, Rushil has been working hard for the past two years as a private, completely free tutor. Over the years he's accumulated students from grades 7th to 10th, and along with invaluable teaching technique.
